

China-Africa Encounters: Enclaves and Displacement

Helen F. Siu

Professor of Anthropology, Yale University
Mok Hing-Yiu Distinguished Visiting Professor, HKU

27 Feb, 2014(Thursday) | 4:30-6:00 PM
Room 221A, 2/F, Fung King Hey Building, CUHK
English/Putonghua

China has a long history of trade and investment with Africa. Its recent forays have attracted world-wide attention and debates. This seminar is based on trips made to explore diasporic experiences among African traders in Yiwu, Guangzhou, and Hong Kong. Implications of Chinese development in Tanzania are also assessed. It hopes to go beyond political polemics to examine nuanced encounters in ethnicity, religion, social networks, finance, state and non-state institutions.

